Table of Contents

Welcome to UTAH!

This stunning 2002 edition of the Utah! Accommodations Guide is a comprehensive listing of all Utah's lodging facilities available to serve you during your visit. Whether you are looking for an award-winning resort, a five star-hotel, a quaint bed and breakfast, or a campground under the stars, we have what you need.

I encourage you to visit Utah's vast and spectacular landscapes during your visit. Our painted deserts are unmatched anywhere in the world. The many acres of rolling sandstone, soaring arches, and ribbons of red rock are here for your enjoyment. And, don't forget our mountains. Opportunities to hike, bike, and ski are just minutes from our urban areas. I believe there is something for everyone in Utah.

This year, it is our privilege to host the 2002 Olympic Winter Games. To all of our visitors we heartedly say, "the World is welcome here."

Enjoy!

Michael O. Leavitt, Governor

Using This Guide

Accommodations of every sort are available in Utah. It doesn't matter if you're looking for a mountain cabin, a houseboat, a full-service luxury hotel, or a camping spot nestled between rosy sandstone fins, you'll find exactly what you're looking for. Loads of information on hotels, motels, campgrounds, B&B's, and ranches is contained in this 2001 Utah! Accommodations Guide*, a welcome companion to the scenic* Utah! Travel Guide*.*

In addition to lodging options, this guide has a listing of Utah's Guides & Outfitters*. These professionals offer a huge range of services and guided adventures designed to help you enjoy this diverse state.*

Utah Travel Areas

UTAH'S LANDSCAPE bears the imprint of its cities. Around them, mountains, deserts, valleys, and other natural features combine with rivers and trade routes to readily divide the state into travel areas:

- Metro-Wasatch Front
- Northern Utah
- Central Utah
- Eastern Utah
- Southwestern Utah
- Southeastern Utah.

These areas are the means of sorting Utah's cities and accommodations listings.

For quick referencing we have divided the state into six travel areas.

Making A Reservation

To make a reservation call 1-800-847-5810 for Utah Reservations, or on the Internet go to www.utahhotel-lodging.com. To make a reservation directly with a hotel, contact the lodging property's toll-free reservation number or local phone number. It is always a good idea to make reservations prior to your visit to ensure space availability.

Payment and Cancellations: While making your lodging reservations, be sure to inquire about reservation policies, cancellation policies, and no-shows, as policies vary from property to property. Most hotels require a valid credit card number to hold your reservation prior to check-in.

Confirmation: Many lodging properties will give you a confirmation number for your reservation or will send a confirmation letter. If you do not receive any type of notification, be sure to call the lodging property and reconfirm that your reservations has been made.

Room Rate Changes: Room rate ranges listed in this guide are subject to change without notice. Confirm the room rate at the time you make your reservation to avoid any confusion or misunderstandings at check-in or check-out.

Hotel Room Tax: Tax on your room will vary by city and/or county. Make sure to confirm the tax amount when making your reservation, along with asking for detailed information on cancellation and refund policies.

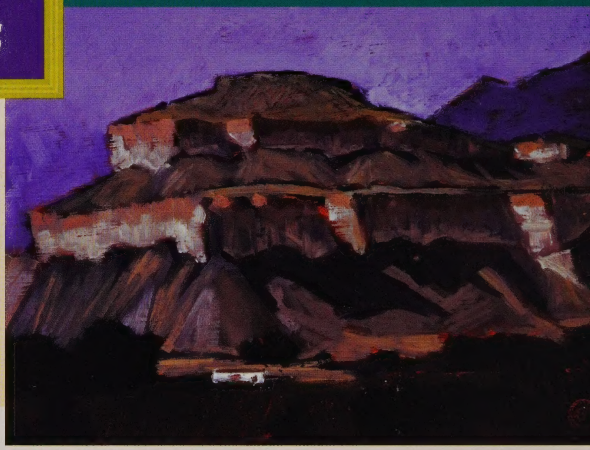
Utah! Travel Tips

UTAH has something for everyone. Whether your tastes run to thrill-seeking adventures, an afternoon at an opera matinee, or a stroll through an art museum, it's all here and waiting for you. What follows is a brief listing of traveling tips while visiting Utah. Welcome!



STORM BUTTE – Original Oil by Larry Graham Clarkson

Getting To and Around Utah

Utah is located in the Western United States. Northern Utah is generally considered a part of the Rocky Mountain states. Climate and landscape makes southern Utah more closely aligned with the Southwestern United States.

Air Travel

Utah is accessible from cities across the United States and all over the world via Salt Lake City International Airport. From Salt Lake City, regional airlines serve cities all over the state and across the Southwest. For more information, contact a travel agent or the Salt Lake International Airport, (801) 575-2400.

Bus Service

Greyhound Bus Lines access several Utah cities and towns. In Northern Utah, buses make regular stops in Provo, Salt Lake City, Ogden, Brigham City, and Logan. In Eastern Utah, Greyhound runs to Vernal and Price. Heading to Southwestern Utah on I-15, the bus line makes stops in Beaver, Parowan, Cedar City, and St. George. Contact: (800) 231-2222.

The Utah Transit Authority provides service to Northern Utah's major cities from Provo north to Ogden, including extensive coverage in the Salt Lake Valley. In winter, specially equipped buses make daily trips to the ski resorts near Salt Lake City. Contact: (801) 287-4636.

Railroad Travel

In Northern Utah, Amtrak makes daily stops at Salt Lake City. The line also provides service to Provo (to the south). In Eastern and Southeastern Utah, there is service to Helper and Thompson Springs. Amtrak trains also stop in Milford in Southwestern Utah. Contact: (800) 872-7245.

Light Rail

The 15-mile north-south TRAX light rail line runs from Sandy, a southern suburb of Salt Lake City, to the Delta Center, home of the Utah Jazz basketball team, in downtown Salt Lake City. An east-west extension line also provides service from downtown to Rice-Eccles Olympic Stadium on the campus of the University of Utah to the East.

The north-south line includes 16 stations, 11 of which include Park & Ride lots with between 50 and 414 parking stalls. The east-west extension line includes 5 stations. No Park & Ride lots are located along the east-west line. TRAX operates from 5 a.m. to midnight, Monday through Saturday, and runs every 10 minutes during peak commute time, every 15 minutes during mid-day hours, and every 20 minutes during off-peak evening hours. On Sunday, TRAX operates from 9:50 a.m. to 7:10 p.m., and runs every 20 minutes. A trip along the entire 15-mile north-south line takes approximately 39 minutes, including all stops.

Before boarding TRAX, customers must purchase their tickets at the Ticket Vending Machines located at all TRAX stations. Proof of payment is required when on TRAX. Up to two children under the age of five may ride free with each fare-paying adult. Full Fare is $1.25 (one token) and is valid for two hours. Reduced Fare is $.50 and valid for two hours for persons 65 and older and individuals with disabilities. All-Day Fare is $2.50 (two tokens) and is valid all day.

For more information about TRAX, please call (801) 743-3882, or visit www.rideuta.com.

Persons with Disabilities

Utah strives to comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act, which ensures equal access in all public buildings. For more information contact individual properties and attractions, or call (800) 333-UTAH.

Exploring Utah By Car

Major Roads

Interstate-15 slices through Utah, north to south, from Idaho to Arizona and Nevada.

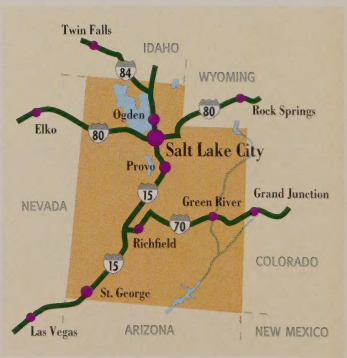
Interstate-80 crosses the northern part of the state from Wyoming, running west into Nevada.

Interstate-84 runs northwest toward Idaho from Echo Junction near the Wyoming border.

US-6 / US-191 is the major route through the eastern and southeastern portions of the state.

Interstate-70 runs west from Colorado to a junction with I-15 in Central Utah.

US-666 enters Utah's southeastern corner from Southern Colorado and joins US-191.



Welcome Centers

For the convenience of visitors traveling the state by vehicle, Utah has five gateway Welcome Centers. They are located just off freeway exits at key entry points to the state and provide free travel information, restrooms, and pay phones.

I-15 south bound near Brigham City
in Northern Utah, (435) 744-5567.

I-80 west bound near Echo Junction
in Northern Utah, (435) 336-2588.

I-15 north bound near St. George in Southwestern Utah, (435) 673-4542.

Utah Laws

Drivers License Requirements: The minimum driving age in Utah is 16. All drivers must have a valid drivers license. Visitors from other states or countries may drive in Utah as long as they have a current drivers license and are at least 16.

Speed Limits: On most highways, the speed limit is 55 miles per hour, particularly in urban areas. Speed limits increase to 65 or 75 miles per hour on Interstate highways and 65 miles per hour on some state highways. These increased speeds are only allowed where they are clearly posted. Transition zones from one speed limit to another are indicated with pavement markings and additional signs.

Turning Right on a Red Light: Right turns are allowed on a red light after the vehicle has come to a complete stop, except where signs prohibit it.

Helmet Use and Seat Belt Laws: The driver of a car, front seat passenger, and all children under 16 years old, regardless of their position in the car, are required by Utah law to wear seat belts. Children under the age of five are required to be in federally approved safety seats. Helmet use is mandatory for motorcyclists and passengers under the age of 18.

For More Information: Contact the Utah Department of Motor Vehicles, (801) 965-4437 or the Utah Highway Patrol, (801) 965-4557.

Utah Traveler Heath Tips

- Utah is located in a high desert, therefore, humidity is low and dehydration can be a problem, especially when combined with cold and altitude. Symptoms of dehydration include weakness, fatigue, dizziness, and an increased chance for frostbite.
- A strong wind (wind chill) can cause you to lose heat much more quickly and can lead to serious hypothermia. So, dress in extra clothing layers, cover your head, and wear gloves or mittens during windy conditions. You can also reduce the risk of hypothermia by drinking plenty of fluids and eating frequently.
- The weather in Utah can change suddenly. You should be prepared if severe weather strikes in the desert or mountain areas where you may be stuck outside in cold winter or hot, dry summer conditions for long periods of time.
- Apply sunscreen and wear sunglasses and hats with brims to protect yourself as the sun is more intense in Utah due to the high altitudes.
- Utah's higher alpine altitudes may affect you, so be aware of headaches, dizziness, fatigue, dry cough, loss of appetite, nausea/vomiting, disturbed sleep, and a feeling of being unwell. Anyone who becomes seriously ill at high altitudes should seek medical assistance.
- People who have heart, breathing, or other health problems should consult with a doctor before coming to Utah's high elevation.
- Flu season in Utah is normally December through March. If you choose to be immunized, do so at least one month before coming to Utah during these months.
- Utah law requires the use of seat belts and child safety seats in all vehicles.
- Utah roads may become icy and snowpacked, especially during the winter months, so extreme caution when driving is necessary.
- Utah law requires that you must be at least 19 years old in order to purchase, possess, or use tobacco, even with parental permission. Utah law also forbids you to give tobacco to anyone under age 19.
- To reduce the health risks of exposure to second-hand smoke, the Utah Indoor Clean Air Act prohibits smoking indoors in public places, including restrooms, restaurants, shops, businesses, theaters, etc.

Traveler Safety Tips

- Don't answer the door in a lodging room without verifying who it is. If a person claims to be an employee, call the front desk and ask if someone from their staff is supposed to have access to your room and for what purpose.
- When returning to your lodging room late in the evening, use the main entrance of the lodging property. Be observant and look around before entering parking lots.
- Close the doors securely whenever you are in your room, and use all of the locking devices provided.
- Don't needlessly display guest room keys in public or carelessly leave them on restaurant tables, at the swimming pool, or other places where they can be easily stolen.
- Do not draw attention to yourself by displaying large amounts of cash or expensive jewelry.
- Don't invite strangers to your room.
- Place all valuables in lodging property's safe deposit box.
- Do not leave valuables in your vehicle.
- Check to see that any sliding glass doors or windows and any connecting room doors are locked.
- If you see any suspicious activity, please report your observations to the management.

Getting a drink in Utah is easy – Bob Clayton

Utah's Liquor Laws

Utah's liquor laws are a bit different, but easy to understand:

- You must be 21 to purchase or consume alcoholic beverages in Utah. Alcoholic beverages (wine, liquor, and beer) are available two ways in Utah: by the drink, or packaged (by the bottle).
- Mixed drinks and wine may be ordered with food in most restaurants from noon to midnight, and beer may be ordered from 10 a.m. to 1 a.m. Patrons may be served at their tables or in waiting areas.
- Mixed drinks, wine, and beer may be ordered at any of Utah's non-exclusive private clubs on weekdays from 10 a.m. to 1 a.m. and on Sundays and holidays from noon to 1 a.m. You may obtain a drink in a private club with or without food, and patrons may be served at the bar or at tables.
- Although private clubs are primarily for members, most clubs offer temporary "visitor" memberships for a nominal fee (usually $5 for two weeks, which allows the visitor and up to five of her/his guests to use the club).
- Taverns and beer establishments only sell beer. Sales are from 10 a.m. to 1 a.m. in a variety of venues: taverns, lounges, cabarets, night clubs, cafes, bowling centers, golf courses, etc. Beer may be purchased without ordering food and is sold on draft and in bottles and cans. Beer sales to go are also allowed, but not in open containers.
- Packaged beer is also available at supermarkets and grocery and convenience stores. The maximum alcohol content is 4 percent by volume or 3.2 percent by weight for beer sold in taverns, beer establishments, and stores.
- Packaged liquor, wine, and heavy beer to go are sold at state liquor stores throughout Utah. Additionally, some of the finest wines in the world are sold at two specialty wine stores in Salt Lake City and one in Park City. State liquor stores accept cash, checks, and credit cards, and are closed on Sundays and holidays.
- Other package agencies are often located in hotels and resorts for customer convenience. Some hotels and resorts offer alcoholic beverages via room service.
- For additional imformation, visit the Utah Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control's website: www.alcbev.state.ut.us.

UTAH:
The Fine Art of Travel

©Calm Before the Storm - Larry Graham Clarkson

IN THE PAST, when people took "The Grand Tour", they traveled to Europe and perhaps to Egypt and the Middle East. They did it in grand style. So much so, that touring became a fine art. Today, "The Grand Tour" is the American West, and the state of Utah is the ultimate destination for those who know how to travel well.

Utah has some of the most beautiful landscapes in the world. Utah is grand, glorious, spacious and sublime, a land of wild adventures and ancient myths.

This Accommodations Guide, like it's companion, the Utah Travel Guide, celebrates Utah's spirit through fine art. A masterpiece of beauty, Utah's sculpted terrain inspires its visitors. At the beginning of each travel region, you will find artistic representations* of many of Utah's finest destinations.

If you have not visited Utah, do it now and discover a part of yourself you never knew existed. Add Utah to your palette of experiences, and come to know the fine art of travel at it's best!

Tree of Life – Larry Graham Clarkson

Metro-Wasatch Front Cities

Bounded on the east by the Wasatch Mountains, bisected by I-15, and creeping west toward the Great Salt Lake, the 100-mile-long "Wasatch Front" is a population and industry corridor stretching from Salt Lake City, north to Ogden, east to Park City and Heber Valley, and south to Provo. The cities of Utah's Wasatch Front are as cosmopolitan as some urban areas twice their size, offering restaurants appealing to the most discriminating palate, and a vibrant arts community that includes Ballet West, the Utah Symphony, Utah Opera Company, Repertory Dance Theater, and the Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

Nearly all of Utah's mountain resorts are nestled in the Wasatch Mountains surrounding this metropolitan corridor. A short drive east of Salt Lake City is Park City, a year-round resort town with three acclaimed ski areas, the Sundance Film Festival, and summer concert series. Some of the finest art galleries in the Western United States are found on Park City's Main Street.

DOWNTOWN SALT LAKE CITY

Salt Lake City is among a fortunate handful of cities across America. We've been able to maintain a healthy, vibrant downtown. Where getting from Point A to Point B isn't an ordeal. And where even though you're in the center of great dining, shopping, and entertainment, you're still just minutes away from unsurpassed outdoor recreation and pristine mountain wilderness.

For business or pleasure, stay in downtown Salt Lake City.

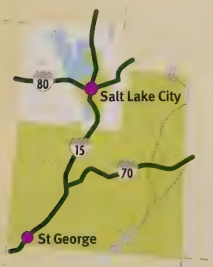
ALBION SPRING – Original oil painting by Larry Graham Clarkson

Northern Utah Cities

The beaver trade brought the first white settlers to Northern Utah. Logan's Cache Valley west of Bear Lake was the site of many mountain man and indian rendezvous in the early 1800s.

Further west in the Great Salt Lake desert, America's first transcontinental railroad was completed near Promontory Summit in 1869. You can relive the event at the Golden Spike National Historic Site. While Northern Utah with the Metro-Wasatch Front is now home to the largest cities in the state, a wealth of economic activity, and "The Greatest Snow on Earth",™ it is also rich in wild-life and contains the Great Salt Lake, migratory bird refuges, and the elk preserve at Hardware Ranch.



In between, around, and through Northern Utah's cities and mountains are remnants of early pioneer settlements and acres of fertile farmland forming an agricultural base of dairy farming and fruit growing with room left over for an increasing crop of "gentlemen farmers".

Central Utah Cities

The Great Basin Desert is one of Central Utah's most dominant features. On a map, this western portion of the state may lack topographic character, however this view is deceptive.

Small mountain ranges parade in sturdy rows across the basin. Any rivers approaching the area might seem to simply disappear, yet the desert is dotted with waterfowl oases.

To the east, Central Utah jumbles desert with the woodlands and peaks of the Fishlake National Forest creating one of the nation's best back-country trail systems. Farther east is a series of sheltered valley locations where Mormon pioneers lived, farmed, then often moved on, creating one settlement after another. These towns strung along US 89 southbound have maintained the atmosphere of the late 1800s and the cultural heritage of their pioneer past. Visitors here may enjoy many restored public buildings and are welcome to explore the quiet, residential streets.

Eastern Utah Cities

Eastern Utah is dominated by the spectacular mountains of the Uinta Range to the north. Including the 456,705-acre High Uintas Wilderness, the Uinta Mountains are replete with craggy peaks, high-elevation lakes, and streams fed by melting snows.

South of the mountains, the Uinta Basin mingles the sovereign lands of the Uintah and Ouray Indian Reservations with farm valleys and tracts of grazing land that seem to stretch forever. To the east, cataclysmic forces have pushed and compressed the earth into odd fields of stone, coal mines, and prehistoric swamps now layered with dinosaur and plant fossils.

Eastern Utah is home to Dinosaur National Monument, as well as Flaming Gorge National Recreation Area, a reservoir created by the dammed flow of the Green River. Below the Flaming Gorge Dam, the Green River winds south on its way to meet the Colorado River. To the south and west lie vast stretches of uplifts, stone reefs, and eroded swells in a confusion of twisted canyons.

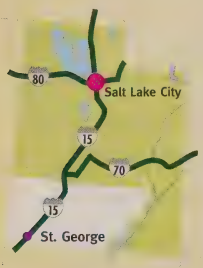
Southwestern Utah Cities

The far southwestern corner of the state is sometimes referred to as Utah's "Dixie" because the first Anglo settlers were Mormons sent to take advantage of the area's mild climate by growing cotton.

The dress code in St. George and vicinity calls for sweaters all winter. But that's not the case in the entire southwestern part of the state: Zion, Bryce Canyon and Capitol Reef National Parks are each situated at elevations where four seasons and correspondingly varied temperatures are the norm. None-the-less, Southwestern Utah has built a reputation on warm weather and sun-filled skies.



There's a wide variety of scenery to enjoy and diverse landscapes to explore. Even if the summer sun raises temperatures, it's not hard to find someplace that's shady and cool: just walk a little way into a canyon where sandstone cliffs tower above you on both sides, or drive toward a mountain until the desert becomes a forest.

Southeastern Utah Cities

The cities and towns in this part of Utah were some of the last to be settled. Though Arches and Canyonlands National Parks have added an element of organization to the area, the land here will never be tamed. Vibrant "red rock" formations are Southeastern Utah's famed element, but there are also acres of broad, rolling sandstone dunes that are colored salmon, orange, cream, and every variation in between.

The snow-capped La Sal and Abajo Mountains rise like cool mirages above miles of sagebrush flats. Mesas stretch and stack and sometimes drop suddenly into deep crevices or enormous canyons. Lake Powell's bizarre mixture of water and stone forms the western edge of this area. The sacred formations of Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park spread south from Utah into Arizona.

Across Southeastern Utah, the evidence of ancient Pueblo Cultures seems to be everywhere, recognizable in ruins and art pecked and painted on canyon walls.

Utah! Campgrounds

Camping options in this diverse state can be anything from mountain sites dotted with wild flowers and edged with aspen trees, to locations only steps from wide, sandy beaches, and quiet, desert camps under skies blanketed with twinkling stars. Campers may choose from nearly 400 public and private campgrounds throughout Utah. The campground grids that follow have specific campground information. For more information on camping areas, contact the commercial campgrounds directly or call the land management agency as listed that administers the campground.

See the corresponding Cities Sections in this guide and the Utah State Map on page 7 to match map coordinate codes.

Reservations, Fees and Special Passes

Overnight camping and/or day use fees are charged at most of the public campgrounds, based on the facilities at the individual campground. Camping in National Forests, National Parks and Recreation Areas, and on BLM-Administered Lands are generally on a first-come, first-served basis. (For large group sites in National Parks or National Forests, reservations are generally required.) For all State Parks, advance reservations may be made by calling (800) 322-3770, or Salt Lake calling area (801) 322-3770. To make reservations in the National Forests, call (877) 444-6777. If payment is made by major credit card, instant confirmation of the campsite reservation is given. Walk-in applications can be obtained at all State Parks and some National Forests. Information can be accessed through several web sites: www.reserveusa.com, www.fs.fed.us, www.nps.gov, www.BLM.gov, to assist campers.

A Multiple Park Pass is available allowing free day-use in all State Parks. A Single Park Pass is also available that allows free day-use in one park. For Utah residents 62 years of age and over, or permanently disabled, a free Special Fun Tag allows day-use in all State Parks.

National Parks, National Forests, and BLM offer a Golden Age Passport (one-time fee) for U.S. Citizens 62 and older and a free Golden Access Passport for the blind and permanently disabled. Available at the park or agency offices, these passports provide a 50 percent discount on single family campsites where a use fee is charged. They also provide free entry to the National Parks. A Golden Eagle Passport is also available. It allows entrance to National Parks and Recreation Areas for one year.

To reach the Public Lands Recreational Information Center, call (801) 466-6411, Tuesday-Saturday, 10 a.m.- 6 p.m. Mountain time.
